

Inevitable

by IIWillowII

Category: Twilight

Genre: Romance

Language: English

Characters: Jacob, OC

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-08 14:59:58

Updated: 2016-04-20 18:17:27

Packaged: 2016-04-27 21:50:21

Rating: T

Chapters: 6

Words: 8,965

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Jacob and jasmine, best friends since birth. What would you do if he was getting taken away from you...by your sister. Well this is Jasmynes life. T rated just in case

1. Prologue

Summary

Jacob and jasmine best friends since birth. What would you do if he was getting taken away from you...by your sister. Well this is Jasmynes life.

*Disclaimer ****

I don't own anything from twilight Stephanie Meyer does. I only own my Oc.

Authors Note

I hope you like it please read the authors note at the bottom to know when I will update thank you

prologue

I wish Bella never came here, I wish Edward never left, I wish she never spent time with my best friend Jacob, I wish things where back to normal, like they used to be

But some things are inevitable, like the saying things happen for a reason, they sure did in this case.

I'm jasmine Swan the younger sister of Bella Swan and this is my story

Bella has been here for almost two years now, when my sister first arrived we had been inseparable always around each other, talking, laughing...

But that all changed when Edward Cullen started talking to her, she got more obsessed by the hour, engrossed with him and his family.

Always talking about them and if not talking she would be thinking, what's so special about them, not seeing her for 5 years was tough, and then she eventually comes back, abuses you and uses you, and then moves on to her precious Cullen's and now I never see her.

But I least I have Jacob my best friend in the world we have known each other since birth as our dads are good friends, secretly I have been developing a crush on him for the past two years or so.

~FLASHBACK~

_8 years ago _

"Jacob! Give it back!" I whined standing on my tipi-toes to try reach my Barrie doll. I was over at the Blacks house as my dad was working late at the station.

As I was try to reach up, I tripped falling into Jacob making us topple on the living room floor in laughter.

"You could never stay on your own two feet" Jake teased, as he knew my older sister was clumsy.

"Hey!" I yelled, which resulted in both of us laughing at my tone. That was where Billy Black, Jacobs dad found us, we had so many pictures of that moment...

~END OF FLASHBACK~

That was how it used to be just myself and Jacob not having a care in the world only focused on each other.

But know it's nothing like that, a week before Edward left he just stopped talking to me it was like he dropped of the face of the earth, I can't tell you how many times I've called him, text him, phoned Billy, I've even went to there house, but no one answered. It was like they forgot about all the years I have been with them.

My dad still goes round to Billy's to watch the game but I don't want to give them my time.

Most night I cry myself to sleep wondering what I did to the boy who I have come to love, now at 16 that's not normal but if you could imagine my position.

I thought I couldn't get any worse...

But it did and fast. First Edward left, turning my sister into a zombie she wouldn't talk or eat and she would wake up screaming for Edward, I felt guilty for my dad so I told him I could deal with it.

I was losing the will to live after 3 months of this routine, I would turn up to school with bags under my eye and end up falling asleep in class, my friends were starting to worry but I brushed it off and told them it was just an infection so they could get off my back.

The truth was It wasn't to do with Bella, it was Jacob. I still cried about him, I would draw him in class, when I was awake and I also didn't want my dad to know what I was like, as he would insist that he would Take care of Bella, I didn't want him going through this, he had enough to deal with.

Charlie started to notice that I was down and not my bubbly self, he took matters into his own hands telling Bella that she had to get over Edward that he was just a boy that there were many others, he even told her that she would go back to live with our mother if this kept going, which she refused and made up a lie about her going out with Jessica in port Angeles.

The fourth month came and Bella started to liven up she would eat and even say a few words to me, it wasn't a lot but it gave me hope.

It was something to hang onto, something I could be happy about.

As Bella started to get better I started to get worse, jake was still ignoring me and hadn't even looked at my messages. I wasn't like Bella where I would ignore all my friends and sit all glum in the corner, I still went out.

Bella then started to leave the house we had no idea where but when she came back her face would be bright and full of life.

It made me happy

Then one heart shattering moment came, I found out from my best friend Bryn that Bella was with Jacob...

*Authors Note ****

Hope use like it I'm glad I had time to do it, I will try to update this Story and my other a Paul and Oc every second day.

I love Jacob and Taylor lautner (I mean who doesn't) so I was excited to write this, please tell me if any mistakes are made or if you have any ideas

Thank you

Willow X

2. Feelings

*Disclaimer ****

i don't own twilight Stephanie Meyer does

Authors Note

Don't worry guys Jacob and jasmine will be together just give it some time, I mean he literally left her for her sister. Jacob will imprint on her, also he dose have a reason for leaving her.

Now on with the first chapter

I was fine with the fact that Bella was hanging out with Jacob, it was that my best friend had told me, not Bella or Jacob, the thing that crushed me the most was that he was now talking to my sister I felt like I was getting replaced.

Oh who am I kidding I hated that Bella was with Jacob, I hated that they would probably be in his little shack of a garage, my sister watching him as he tinkered around with cars, walking down to first beach no matter the weather, sitting in the blacks living room watching stupid tv shows with Billy.

All the thing that we used to do. Now my sister was taking that away from me, I couldn't find it within myself not to blame Jacob for this to, he had just chucked out 16 years of friendship out the window, I know he was having a tough time his dad been in a wheelchair after a fatal accident to which his mother died and his two sisters left him to take care of Billy alone.

But I was willing to help.

I guess that won't happen anymore as he didn't want me. I let that thought sink in, it settled in the pit of my stomach, A strangled cry escaped my hurt, it hurt so much and I couldn't do anything about it, I could only watch as my sister came through the door with the smile that jake always left me with. It was now plastered on her face... Of all people it had to be the guy I loved so deeply.

That night was the hardest, Bella went to sleep with that stupid smile, while I had to plaster one on for my dads sake.

My sister had a peaceful sleep with the thought of Jacob. While I was in my room crying my heart out to Bryn through the phone until 1 am, when I had fallen asleep out of exhaustion and out of tears.

I loved my best friend she was always there for me like I was for her she knew the first day I felt feeling for Jacob as I had rushed to her house to spill my guts.

And Bryn had came to me when she was scared about her mum leaving since her parents were arguing. The truth was that they had a few too many drinks.

I woke up from my uncomfortable sleep the springs felt to sore and my eyes were to puffy, everything from yesterday started rushing back to me. Wiping a stray tear away from my cheek, I looked over to see a picture of Jacob and I laughing that exact picture where I had fell on top of him.

Instantly I shot up out of bed and threw the picture into my cupboard, not wanting anything that could remind me off him in my room.

Today looked good given my mood, me and Bryn decided to go for a girls day to brighten both our feelings as Bryn's boyfriend had just broke up with her, she wasn't as worked up as me but she was still upset as she really did like him.

Bouncing down stairs I spotted Bella with a smile on her face as she talked to someone on the phone. "Yeah Jake, I can come over" she said with a laugh, I could feel my heart breaking all over again.

I tried to stay quiet as I put on my coat and grabbed my house keys. "Hey sis" freeze! I turned slowly and gave her a small smile "what are you doing?"

"N-nothing" I squeaked "uh...bye" bolting out the door and straight into Bryn's car.

"Someone's a bit eggar?" Bryn said with a laugh smiling at me

I smiled back "that and she's talking to Jacob" I finished with a sad smile

"Well let's get us as far away from here as possible" my best friend replied with a smirk turning up the radio

"TO PORT ANGELES!" I exclaimed getting a 'whoop' from Bryn.

And we were off her car jolted to life as we drove down the freeway while blasting tunes and singing along, seeing who could sing the highest notes, our voices cracking as we couldn't go any higher, I was already feeling better. I could feel both our moods lighting up.

We got to the shops and spent the whole day there, talking, laughing, joking, and eating obviously. "The damn shops have bankrupted me!" Bryn exclaimed showing me her empty purse.

"I feel you sister" I said patting her shoulder sympathetically. Making us both giggle.

"Come on let's go home" Bryn said exhausted

"Yeah I'm so tired" I replied "all that laughing" my best friend nodded.

We definitely needed that.

It was around midnight when I got home, my dad knew I would be out late so he probably had gone to bed.

I crept up the stairs not wanting to wake anyone up when I heard sniffing, I tipped-toed along the landing to her that the sound was coming from Bella's room.

I pushed the door open softly, peering in to see my sister curled up into a ball on her bed.

I felt sorry for her at that moment and whispered softly into the darkness "are you okay?"

All I heard was a strangled "Edward" and even though she had taken my best friend away she was still my sister and I now I have experienced what it's like to lose someone you love.

So I carefully wrapped her in a hug and climbed into her bed. We both fell asleep wrapped in a embrace...

Authors Note

I know I said I would update every second day but I couldn't help myself if I have any free time I will write something

Also thanks for the reviews they inspire me and to answer one of your questions there will be some Bella bashing, I know it doesn't seem like it in this chapter, but they are sisters after all.

Thank you

Willow X

3. Imprinted

Disclaimer

I do not own twilight Stephanie Meyer does

*Authors Note ****

I just want to say a big thank you to those who have followed and favourited or put my story on their alert I also want to say thank you to those who have reviewed, I literally squeal every time a notification comes through :D

Hope you enjoy the chapter Jacob finally make an appearance also there is a short authors note at the end X

I woke up in the morning in the same position as last night, but my sister wasn't there..

I walked down stairs slowly trying not to trip, finding that the house was empty

That's when I saw a note on the table it read

_ Jasmine I'm away out with Jacob _ _and the rest to go see the new _ _movie in port Angeles see you later _

_ -Bella _

Of course she was with Jacob, she's always with him now I thought sadly, I really miss him, his laugh, his smile, the way I could be myself around him...

Why did it have to turn so twisted

I decided to take a head start before school started back up by reading a few chapter in for each class and practicing my maths, I was horrible at that subject.

Before I knew it my dad walked in the door. Quickly getting up I ran down the stairs and came face to face with my father

"I forgot to put tea on" I exclaimed jumping around in panic, Charlie just laughs at me while ruffling my hair

"It's okay kiddo I brought pizza" Charlie said laughing even more as I whined at him and fixed my hair.

"Okay pizza I fine with me!" I chirped instantly hyper, I was just happy that my dad was here and I mean who can say no to pizza, not me anyway, I hopped down the rest of the stairs, bouncing into the living room I plonked down on the sofa, curling up next to my dad and ate pizza while watching the game, a usual Saturday night at the swan household.

That night Bella walked in the hose looking worried and flustered, I gave her a questioning glance, but all I got was a head shake before my sister headed up the stairs after saying good night to our father I quickly followed not long after her.

I had went straight to sleep that night but it was morning now, I was sitting on the couch watching some stupid to show that I used to watch with Jake, every single thing I did reminds me of him even some places we would roam around together, I wasn't going to let it bother me anymore.

I looked up at the sound of my sister heading down the stairs she had an orange backpack with her and was dressed in warm clothing.

"Where you going Bella?" I call out in a sing song voice, her eyes darted at me sitting on the couch, she hesitated for a second.

"I'm going for a walk" she muttered as she slipped out the door, I decided to follow her as she was acting very suspicious. I wanted to know where the hell she was going, as i had found out she had been riding motorcycles She made up an excuse about falling over a rock, I figured this out as Bella was one of the worst lier's that I knew so I managed to make her telling me by using my best trait being annoying eventually she gave up and she spilled the secret.

I had been following her for a while, the whole reason I was doing this because I don't want her to disappear and not come back, it would crush our dad, I stood still when Bella stopped in the middle of a meadow that was filled with beautiful flowers scattered around. I forgot that I needed to be silent as I wanted to get closer to run my hand across the swaying grass and cringed when I heard a twig snapping under my foot. Bella spun around startled and spotted me in the underbrush, standing there with a lazy smile "Jasmine! You scared me. What are you doing here?"

"W-Well," I stuttered not knowing how to respond. "I wanted to make sure you wouldn't do anything crazy" She narrowed her eyes. "Why didn't you tell me that you were there instead of following me the whole time."

I sighed. "You're right. I-" I stopped in the middle of my sentence, Bella frowned. "Come on don't leave it hanging?" I couldn't remember how to respond properly as I panicked. Bella had now noticed that I was staring wide eyes directly behind her as she slowly turned around.

To face dark skinned man with long dreadlocks and bright crimson eyes as he grinned at us from across the eye color frightened they contacts? Who wore red contacts. I was super aware that we had to get out of here.

"Bella" the tanned skinned man said her name._Wait, he knew her?_

"Laurent."Bella replied smoothly_ And she knew him?wait this is messed up who the hell is this man._

In less than a second, the man named Laurent appeared in front of us. I gasped in shock. _How could someone move so fast._

"And who is this?" he asked curiously.

"My sister" Bella responded in a strong voice.

"Her blood is... Tempting" _wait what my blood? How could he know. This man could not be human. How was that possible?_

He turned to face Bella again,his smile wider. "We need to talk. I went to visit the Cullens but their house is empty. I'm surprised they left you behind. Aren't you sort of a pet of theirs?"

"Yeah, something like that."

"Do the Cullens visit often?" he questioned, a knowing smile on his face, Bella hesitated for a brief moment before answering "All the time. I'll tell them that you stopped by" she said lying and It was to protect us. I prayed Laurent would believe her, but our chances were low as Bella wasn't the best of liars.

"He's not here right now though?"

"Why are you here?" Bella asked, changing the subject.

"I came as a favor to Victoria. She asked me to find out if you were still under the protection of the Cullens. Victoria feels that it is only fair to kill Edward's mate given he killed hers. An eye for an eye."

I stood there confused I had no idea what they were talking about, but Edward had killed someone. What the heck was going on? Did my sister love a psychopath?

"Edward would know who did it. He would come after you."her voice was surprisingly calm as she talked about Edward

"I don't think he will. After all, how much could you mean to him if he left you here unprotected? Victoria won't be happy about me killing you, but I can't help myself. You're so mouthwatering," Laurent said.

Bella tried to reason with him but Laurent was having none of it.

"Shh. Don't be afraid," he stopped her from talking. "I'm doing you a kindness. Victoria plans on killing you slowly, painfully whereas I'll make it very quick." He inhaled her scent. "I promise. You will feel nothing." His eyes then snapped to mine as he shot over to where I was standing.

"I'm sorry darling, but I must take care of all evidence." I froze, was he going to kill me was I going to die out here with out a goodbye to my dad,to Billy, to my mother,to Jacob, even though I hated him at the moment I still wanted my last thoughts of him, chocking back a sob, i squeezed my eyes tightly shut as Laurent raised his hands to wrap around my throat. I could feel my heart rapidly beating against my chest. Another second passed and nothing happened, Seeing how fast he moved, I was sure that I would be slaughtered right now.

"I don't believe it," I heard Laurent murmur.A low threatening growl came from behind, making the birds fly out from the surrounding trees,I peaked an eye to see Laurent, He looked, He looked scared. If he,this red eyed man was scared,what sort of animal or beast was standing behind us?

I tried to crane my neck around as I was still in his Vice grip, I was suddenly dropped to the forest floor spluttering for air, I saw an enormous black wolf slowly coming out of the woods. It stepped forward and its sharp teeth showing as it continued to growl and , great. We were trapped between two killers. At this moment, I didn't know what to fear more: the gigantic wolf or the red eyed man.

Suddenly, four more wolves emerged from the trees and formed a line behind the black wolf, that's when I saw how huge these wolves actually were, Wolves weren't supposed to be that big! I stared in awe as I momentarily forgot that they were potentially dangerous.

Although they were huge and frightening, they were beautiful, I couldn't help but admire them. They were all different colors: silver, brown, sandy, black and russet. As they came forward their bodies crouched defensive and ready to bolted across the meadow without a sound and the wolves sprung into action, leaping into the air and chasing after him. Their loud snarls and thunderous thumping as they ran.

I froze with fear as I saw the russet colored wolf look directly at Bella before turning its big brown eyes towards me and that's when it all changed, those eyes were oddly like a human oddly familiar, as I looked into the brown orbs I felt attracted to this furry beast, a strange feeling tingled through my body. It all happened I a fraction of a second. With no warning the wolf snarled loudly sounding angry,making me jump then sprang into the action. As he ran to the other side of the forest with unusual speed and disappeared into the trees.

"What the hell was that?" I screeched, panicked after I had recovered from the past events.

"Who was that ? What was he?"

"I'll explain in the house" She replied,Bella grabbed my hand and pulled me away. We dashed out of the tree line with a few slips from her along the way.

I had never ran so far in my life, we made it home with no cuts . I bursted into our home and looked frantically for my father. He and Harry Clearwater were in the kitchen having a few beers

"Dad we saw them!" Bella yelled.

"What's the matter?" he asked, interrupting her.

"In the woods, they aren't bears. They're wolves. They're these huge wolves!" I explained with a huge sigh

"Are you sure about that?" Harry asked, he knows something I thought suspiciously.

"Yes, we just saw them. They were after...something," Bella replied trying her best to not give anything else away.

"Wolves...You saw them?" Dad asked with an uncertain look.

We nodded.

"All right. Well, Harry. Feel like going hunting? Can you get some of your guys together?"

That night Charlie and Harry were out hunting I sat Bella down to explain what happened out in the meadow.

"You have to tell me straight I don't want any lies" I said sternly with hard eyes.

Bella told me everything from the beginning until now. I didn't know what to feel at this new information. I was shocked Bella hung out with vampires.

"Are you crazy!" I exploded " You love a friking vampire what are you suicidal, they could have killed you in a split second, they drink blood for goodness sake-" Bella cut me of telling me that they drunk animal blood instead of humans.

"That doesn't matter Bella! Are you delusional, how do you think Charlie would feel, how I would feel I don't want to lose another person in my life-" I stopped, I had said to much quickly I asked "What about those wolves? Do you know about them?"

"No," Bella shook her head. "I didn't even know they existed until today."

I sighed in relief as she forgot about what I had just said.

A few days past, Bella was locked in her room as Jake had stopped talking to her after the cinema, she had tried to get a hold of him but it was no use. I know how that felt

She was starting to get frustrated and annoyed. She had been up there for 2 days only coming down for dinner. I was sitting at her door listening for any movement, when her door flung open and Bella stepped out with determination on her face.

"Bella what are you doing ?" I asked following her down the stairs and out the door.

She turned round to face me " I think I know someone who will know about the wolves" Bella said then climbed into her truck.

"I'm coming with you" I piped up, following behind her I wanted answers, even though we had been through a lot the past few days I still wasn't ready to actually talk about us properly.

Bella parked the truck, I looked outside to see we were at the black resident, no I wasn't ready!

"Bella I'm going to stay here" I stammers while she got out the old rusty Chevy. She didn't answer just walked up to the door and knocked after a while of her standing there she came back as there was no answer, just as Bella was about to get in again. Her gaze fell upon something or someone behind.

I turned around to see Sam uley, Paul lahote, Embry Call and Jared Cameron emerge from the forest edge. I looked back to my sister to find that she wasn't there but she was halfway along the grass stalking towards the three guys.

I had heard about them, seemingly Sam was the leader of the gang he was the first one to supposedly take steroids, then it was Paul, Jared and then Embry, who was one of Jakes friend, I wonder who was next.

I ran as fast as I could towards them Bella had just slapped Paul in the face. I don't know why, but something started to happen he was shaking like crazy and breathing deeply, instantly I stepped in front of Bella and started to walk us backwards to which Paul followed every step. Before I knew it there was no longer a guy standing there it was a wolf, one of the ones we had seen in the woods.

I screamed, making Bella fall over dragging me with her, I slowly inches away using my hands and feet to put distance between us. My sister had already left and started to run the opposite way.

But my brain couldn't co-operate with my legs, I was stuck there in front of and angry wolf, no person, I don't know.

"Jake!, Jake!, Run!" I heard Bella yell at him as he jumped over the fence and towards Bella. Paul snapped at me again causing me to whimper with fear.

I knew Jacob would be helping Bella so I awaited the death of me, hearing A ferocious growl from behind me I turned around to see Jacob glaring daggers at the grey colour wolf in front of me what's he doing challenging a wolf man, why did he growl like an animal.

What I wasn't expecting was for Jake to jump into the air, a tearing sound coming from above then for 4 paws to land on ether side of my body.

The russet colour wolf standing protectively above me was now in the place of the Jacob I used to know, but the Jacob I know was not as buff as this one, his hair wasn't short and he sure didn't have a tattoo on his arm and he definitely didn't turn into a gigantic wolf!

The two wolves snapped and growled at each other, starting to circle and lunge, I was stuck in my spot until a hand grabbed my arm and pulled me up, I came face to face with Embry call. "Take them to Emily's" Sam ordered and followed the two wolves into the trees...

I couldn't help but think there may be hope for me and Jacob Maybe that's why he was ignoring me something in the back off my mind told me

But another was suing why would he hang out with Bella. I was so confused.

*Authors Note ****

Hey!, sorry it's a long one I just couldn't stop writing. I hope you like it.

I would like to know if I am going to fast with this story sometimes I just get carried away :)

So then you have it Jacob has imprinted on jasmine, if you have any feed back or ideas I will take them on board

Thank you

Willow X

4. Outburst

*Authors Note ****

Hey guys this is getting to the good parts, WARNING - there is some T rated language, just to tell you.

Disclaimer

Stephane Meyer owns twilight, I only own my Oc and plot

Embry and Jared took us to a yellow cabin-like house that was surrounded by the forest.i instantly fell in love with the little cabin, it looked very welcoming and homely.

We sat in Bella's truck for a few moments when Bella spoke up " Are you not worried about them?" She demanded, I had put my head in my knees trying to calm down, what if something happened to Jacob what if he got hurt, I still was fussing over him after all he had done to me.

Embry laughed obnoxiously "worried? Why?"

"They could hurt each other!" Bella screamed.

Jared spoke up " I hope Paul sinks some teeth into him" I blanched at the thought.

"No way!" Embry disagreed "did you see Jacob! He's a natural, he phased on the fly even Sam couldn't do that"

"Pauls been at it longer, I bet 5 bucks that he'll leave a mark." I tried to block out the conversation but the two wolfs were to loud

"Your on!" They shook each other's hand and got out the truck, with my sister doing the same, I still say there trying to get the image of the two wolves fighting, my. Stomach churning, as my head filled with possible sinareos ,I jumped when the door opened with heard on the other side, "you coming?" Jared asked his face worried, I nodded and climbed out of the truck, I had to be strong Jake was older than me he could handle himself.

Jared held the door open for me I said a quite thank you while entering the small entrance, I was blasted with warm air from the vents and sighed in contentment, it wasn't the hottest day and I had not thought my outfit through. He walked ahead of me, as I trailed behind timidly. We had walked into a living area where I spotted my sister looking out the window, Embry was stuffing his face with what looked like a muffin, I then spotted a young women coming out the kitchen she had copper skin and long straight jet-black hair, she had a tray of muffins in her hand, "you guys hungry, why would I even ask" the women said sarcastically, I already liked her.

She turned to face me and jerad, her face didn't even look that bit shocked to see me standing there. I then saw her face she had 3 nasty long scars along the right side of her face running from the hairline to chin. One of the lines pulled down her eye and the other pulled the corner of her lips into a permanent grimace. I looked away not wanting to make her uncomfortable.

"You must be Bella's sister" her melodic voice rang through the living room. I smiled at her "yeah I'm jasmine swan, it's nice to meet you..." I trailed of I didn't know her name "Emily", that was it Sam had said it before. "Emily" I repeated, politely.

"You girls hungry feel free to take a muffin" Emily said kindly I declined saying I was not ready to eat, Bella surprised me by accepting the offer and taking a muffin. I asked Emily if I could use her bathroom as I felt sick and quickly bolted up the stairs locking the door behind me as I reached the bathroom. I slid down the wall thinking things over so vampires and shape shifters were real. Life was mucked up.

The front door opened, Jacobs booming laughter filing the house, I squeezed my eyes tightly shut. Hoping to drown out the sound of his voice and laughter as he talked to someone.

I shakily got up washed my face ready to face him, I wobbled my way down the stairs my legs still shaking. The whole room turned to face me as I entered the living area. I scanned the people trying not to lock eyes with Jacob, but it was no use I felt a tug towards him, trying to battle it away I gave up and turned my eyes to jake's.

As I looked at Jacob, he was no longer a few inches taller than me he was now probably a foot and a half, easily the biggest in the room. The same going for his muscles, all the pack were shirtless I guess it was easier to phase. I had recalled everything about the wolves as I used to get told the Quileute legends by Billy Black... They were all true.

Even though My former best friend had changed in appearance, his eyes were still the same brown pools, his laughter was still the same and his voice was still as strong and husky as it was right now. The room just stared at us with expectant faces apart from my sister she was glaring at me.

I couldn't handle it I couldn't talk to him right now, I couldn't do it, I thought I was ready I wasn't..." I'm not ready" I cried, feeling my eyes start to water I picked up my backpack from the ground and rushed out the door towards my car, I caught the looks of sympathy from the pack and Emily and the look of smugness from my sister. But the last look broke my heart. It was Jacobs face he looked crushed. As I was starting to get in Bella's truck - She would have to get a lift - , tears still streaming down my cheeks my name was called by the all too familiar voice, slowly I looked over to him once again my heart broke at his expression. "Jazz" Jacob called again desperately, a sob ripped through my throat as I held up a hand to make him stop, I shook my head "I can't Jacob" swiftly I jumped in the truck, as I was driving up the dirt road, I looked back to see that Jacob wasn't there , but in his place was a beautiful russet wolf, he was the one who looked at me in the meadow, I pushed hard on the gas the rusty piece of junk grumbled in protest.

As I was driving back home a pain filled howl rippled through the night . I was full out sobbing now, that had to be Jacob I saw him as his wolf, I pulled over onto strip to stop my tears before I crashed. It was 40 minutes later before Setting back off, I never knew you could have so many tears. By the time I got home Bella was already home One of the pack must have gave her a ride as Charlie's cruiser wasn't in the drive.

Wanting to go get some eye drops from the kitchen as my eyes were stinging and puffy from crying, but I was stopped by Bella.

"You took Jacob away!, He wanted to talk to me, but no you had to make a huge scene now that's why I had to invite hi-" I cut her off livid, I just get in and she starts screaming at me.

That was one of the biggest mistakes of my life, if I would have let her finish I would have known that Jacob was here.

"Why don't you just fuck off Bella you don't know anything. Nothing okay, you have no idea what has gone on" I screeched

"Listen to me jasmine!-"

"No you listen to me!, just stop with your bull shit, you know fuck all, all you care about is making my life miserable, Edward leaves wow wee" I exclaimed, stopping to get my breath back, I know it was a low blow but I had to get all this off my chest. " he leaves and you take one of the only people I care about away from me, you want to know who that is, it was Jacob"

Bella shouted over the top of me " I know more about Jacob than you do so it doesn't matter. He's finished with you"

Not wanting to hear this crap I once again cut in " Have you got a stick shoved up your arse, have you not even noticed that I was always with him, oh wait you couldn't because you were in Edward and Bella land to notice, you know nothing, you don't know Jacobs favourite colour is blue, you don't know that when he laughs his eyes go smaller, you don't know that when he's happy his eyes will sparkle, do you want to know how I know this it's because I love him, I love him more that you loved Edward, much more than you'll ever know" I finished breathing heavily my sister in the same state.

I looked up when I heard the stairs creek I thought my dad wasn't in, but it wasn't Charlie it was Jacob and he would have most likely heard everything...

*Authors Note ****

Oh snap! Look at that sorry for the cliff hanger but don't worry I will update tomorrow at the latest so you don't have to wait long to find out what happens and sorry for the language but I think it made it more effective, I quite enjoyed writing this chapter and I have already started planning for eclipse, woohoo!

Thank you for reading would love feedback about this chapter, did to much happen, was the language a bit much.

Thank you

Willow X

5. Talking

Disclaimer

All but my OC and plot belong to Stephanie Meyer.

I opened and closed my mouth like a fish trying to decide what to say to my former best friend. My sister was smiling smugly like she knew this would happen all along. Jacob finally looked away and over to Bella who had turned her lips into a frown like I had seriously offended her, I was still getting over the fact that Jacob was here and had probably heard the argument between the two of us with his extended hearing hell without it you could probably hear us screaming and bawling at each other like a pair of banshees.

"Jacob, did you just hear what she said" my sister said flinging her body at him. My anger flared, he didn't want her, she wasn't right for him. So who is, you my brain asked. Is that what I was complying, did i think I was good enough for Jacob. No he didn't like me it was a one way street, I was stuck at the dead end.

"Yeah, I heard what she said" he said his eyes filling with an unknown emotion, that was very unlike me not to know what he was feeling we could read each other perfectly, that's what makes us good friends, made. Jacob hadn't returned Bella's desperate hug, in stead he unwrapped her arms from around his waist that was actually covered up by a t-shirt but you could easily see his muscles flex as he crossed his arms over his chest. Stop it jasmine, I scolded.

I looked up as I felt a cool breath against my hair, to see Jacob black towering above me I never realised how tall he had gotten until he was close to me. I stepped back I didn't want to be this close, he had done to much.

His face looked crushed as I stepped back, I immediately wanted to step forward again, but I couldn't do that to my self. "Jasmine" he said his usual hard voice soft, it felt good to hear my name roll of his tongue, No! Stop it!. "Can we talk?" He asked, I was about to decline, that's when I looked at his expression it was full of hope and regret. Dam Jacob black and his perfect handsome face. I nodded, May as well get this over and done with, heading around Bella, her face filled with anger and hatred at Jacob talking to me rather than her, I left through the back door with Jake following behind. I sat down on the porch swinging my feet of the stairs. As Jake leaned against the railing. He looked like a model getting a photo shot, as he causally ran a hand through his choppy dark brown hair. I swooned at the sight even though we weren't on the best of terms a girl could still dream.

"I'm sorry" came his voice, it was usually strong and confident but at this moment it was weak his tone worn out like he hadn't had a good sleep in over a few weeks. But was that all he was going to say, after me wondering what I did to him over the past weeks.

"Your sorry, is that all your going to say after all that I've been through!" I shrieked, he had no idea what I had been thinking "I thought you were dead or hurt you just dropped me just like that" I snapped my fingers to empisize my point " you didn't give me a warning" I stated calmer

"I thought it would be better this way" I laughed humourlessly. "You thought it would be better to leave me, to leave me wondering what I did to you, all those years of us being friends meant nothing to you!" I screamed, his hands started quivering a little I was glad he stood away from me.

"What no! Those years were the best I wouldn't trade them for anything, the same with you" he said truthfully, I was trying not to give in but I found it hard he was my best friend in the whole world, I know it's cringe but it's true we could be ourselves and we wouldn't judge, we would argue and cry but always get back together. It's how it always was and how I hope it should be if he's willing to try again I will accept but first I want answers.

"What really you wouldn't trade me, I don't think that worked out as you left me for my sister...my own sister Jacob" he flinched "why?" I asked quietly hurt lacing my voice. His eyes shon with pain as I said the truth.

"You don't understand" Jake said his voice hard again. Was this shape shifter business making him have serious mood swings. "Care to enlighten me Jacob. I know that you were having a hard time with you know...but I could have helped you but no you ditch me and a week later your with my sister and even worse Bryn had to tell me not one of use." My face was probably scrunched up trying not to cry, which he knew I was like when i didn't want to be upset. Jakes face was masked but I could tell by his eyes that he was hurting in the inside. We both were.

"It wasn't to do with the accident it was something else..." He trailed of, was he going to tell me. "But I can't tell you" I guess that answered my question.

"Then come get me when you can tell me, it pains me to say this but I'm not going to listen to you until you tell me the reason, you can't just do that, I was worried sick.." I got up and started to walk back towards the back door.

When a few words from the boy I loved mouth made me stand still in my tracks "I started to like you more than best friends should!" Jacob shouted.

Was he for real was this some sort of sick joke "are you for real or is this some sort of joke you and Bella are playing on me" I asked.

"No! How could you think that" he said with annoyed eyes. His hands shaking more.

"Because Maybe I like you more too!" He looked stunned as I said this. "But I guess it doesn't matter anymore" my voice deflating.

"Of course it matters!"

"If it does why did you leave me!" This was one of our worst arguments we have had as we both were struggling with different emotions.

"I left because I was scared, I was scared of rejection, scared of losing you, our friendship, but I made a mess out of that haven't I" he muttered to himself with sorrow and regret his hands not shaking anymore. I knew how boys were most of my friends were guys. I still didn't understand why he had been with my sister I didn't need to ask as he continued.

"I only hung out with your sister, so I could still see you or hear your voice when she was on the phone, I never liked her and I only left as I thought it would be better to try forget about my feelings then try be friends again, but I know that that wouldn't have worked, I was so stupid I ruined everything" he put his head in his hands and sat down on the side of the porch, I've never seen Jake so... So sad was it.

"Thanks for telling me but I wish you would have told me sooner we could have avoided all of this" I soothed coming to sit beside him. I had lost the internal battle of trying to avoid him and not be friends, but I wanted to be more than friends I now understood why he had done this, but it would be so much easier if I was told.

"Even if we got together before I would have still had to leave you when I turned into a werewolf, alphas rules, but as you had seen it doesn't matter, I know that you want some time we can try be friends again if you would like I would understand if you don't want to speak to me again..." His face quickly turned to agony, I'm sure my face was the same, I couldn't think of a world without Jake

"Why don't we try be best friends again, it will take some time but I'm willing to try if you are" he nodded and stood up quickly walking in front of me, he wrapped his arms around my tiny waist, well compared to his humongous size, I stood on my tip-toes wrapping my own arms around his shoulders and leaning my head against his chest breathing in his scent that calmed me.

"I missed you jokers" I said in a kiddish voice, my eyes big as I looked up at him. He laughed at the childhood nickname.

"I missed you to jazz-razz" I laughed making him smile, I felt better already.

"Don't ever do that to me again" I said seriously, it was to much.

"I promise" he said as we still stood in each other's embrace...

*Authors Note ****

Hey guys how are you all.

I'm sorry that I hadn't updated when said but I had went out with my friends and had a netball match on so I haven't had that much time to write

I was going to continue writing to make the chapter longer but I decided not to as I thought it was a good place to stop.

I'm so glad that they are friends again ahhhhh! Woop! Woop!

Thank you

Willow X

6. Friends again

Authors note

There may have been confusion about my wording but some of it was supposed to be thoughts but the software wouldn't let me use italics or it was just my really bad grammar LOL hope you enjoyed it though :D

After our short hug, I wasn't letting Jake off so easy, we both headed into the house. My sister was sitting in the living room when we came in starring blankly at the Tv I was to happy to even begin feeling sorry for her plus she has done a lot to me.

Bella turned to face us when the Back door shut with a slam, her face lifted when she saw Jacob not close to me, he was close but not that much for Bella to think anything of it.

"So Jake did you realise that you don't want her" Bella spat, I tried not to be offended by her words but failed as I flinched making Jacob give me a worried glance.

He glared at my sister at what she had said his hands shaking, I put my palm on his arm trying to calm him down. I worked but not that well knowing that he could explode with the slightest wrong word I gently pushed him outside into the garden that was surrounded by the woods.

"Go for a run, let off some steam" I suggest as his body quivered Jake gave me a are you crazy look as I said this "I'll still be here, you have my number right?" I asked as he nodded.

I watched him run into the woods while he started striping mid way. I felt better knowing that we had sort of made up, I felt free, this weight was lifted away from my shoulders I felt the pain and tears wash away as I thought about how we were friends again.

I danced around the garden I was so happy I had my best friend back and not even Bella could ruin my mood.

Walking back into the house with the biggest smile on my face, I saw my dad retreat into the living room. Bella must have locked herself away in her bedroom. I skipped along the hard wooden floor and plonked my little body on the sofa next to Charlie, he turned to face me with a puzzled look.

If possible my grin grew while my fathers eyebrows rose above his hairline. I giggled.

"Okay... What's up with you?" Charlie asked his face looking scared.

"Me and jakers made up!" I said excitedly my dads knew all about this as he had caught me sobbing into my pillow one night.

"That brilliant!" He exclaimed, he was a massive fan of us getting together he and Billy said we would make a great couple but we both brushed it off. Honestly I think they gave us a ship name jazob.

He hugged me tightly knowing that I was ecstatic about all of this Jacob had hurt me so much but all the years of friendship could never be forgotten.

I had watched a bit of the game with Charlie munching and talking away during halftime. But had excused myself from the room just to rush into my own to spill the gossip to Bryn.

I picked up my phone and dramatically fell onto the bed pressing the call button as I did so, it rang once,twice,three times before she picked up I did not give my best friend to have a chance to speak.

"Bryn! You would never guess what just happened!" I yelled into the phone, probably making her ears pop as I did so.

"Whoa, whoa, my ears are ringing" she mooned

"Answer them then" I said sarcastically. (An/: something my friend always says to me LOL)

"Nows not the time jasmine, now spill the beans!"

"Well when I got home from La Push the other day me and Bella had a heated argument about Jacob. Long story short she claimed that she knew Jacob better than me I mean who does she think she is saying that we have been friends for our whole lives, I had just shouted that I loved him when Jacob came down the stairs"

Bryn gasped "did he hear you" she whispered. I laughed

"Of course he heard I was screaming, well we ended up going outside"

I told my best friend all about what he said. "So now we are friends again"

She squealed into the phone and blurted out "that's so good you both are together again" I squealed along with her that's how my night went just talking with my girl.

Drifting off to sleep with the thought of Jacob... That we were friends again...that he liked me and that he didn't care as much as I thought about my sister...

Authors Note

Hey guy sorry it's been a few day have been writing this in scattered days I hope you enjoyed it if you have any thoughts for the next chapter I would appreciate

Thank you

Willow X

End
file.